Business Process Assessment (BPA)

The first step to building better operations — with or without an ERP.

Before software. Before implementation. Before change.

A Business Process Assessment gives you a clear understanding of how your business operates today — and where improvement is possible.

Its methods will help you uncover inefficiencies, identify opportunities for growth, and determine the right path forward for your business.

Is A BPA For Your Business?

A BPA is valuable whether you're:

- Operating without an ERP and feeling the strain of manual work
- Preparing to select and implement your first ERP
- Struggling to get full value from an existing system
- Growing and need better structure, visibility, or control
- Looking for a clearer view of where time, money, and effort are being lost

Some organizations need an ERP. Some need better processes. Many need both — assess in the right order.

Why BPA Comes First?

When businesses call on us without an ERP, it's often because automation and process alignment don't exist yet.

The BPA allows you to:

- Examine how work flows across your business today
- Identify inefficiencies, redundancies, and manual effort
- Understand where systems, tools, or structure are missing
- Determine where an ERP would add value — and where it wouldn't

This ensures any recommendation is grounded in your actual operations, not assumptions.

"Attivo reviewed our processes in depth and delivered clear recommendations that helped us improve how we work. We've already implemented several changes and saved meaningful labor time."

How We Work

The Attivo BPA is a deep, collaborative review of your business.

We work directly with your team to:

- Review processes across departments
- Document how work is performed today
- Identify constraints, gaps, and opportunities
- Align operational needs with realistic solutions

The process is thorough, structured, and designed to fit into your business without disruption.

What You Get

At the end of the assessment, you'll have:

- A clear picture of your current operations
- Identified inefficiencies and improvement areas
- Actionable recommendations tied to business goals
- Insight into where technology, automation, or ERP fits your operations
- A roadmap to guide next steps — with or without new software

You'll know where change will have the most impact and how to approach it confidently.

Why BPA Is Core to AttivoERP

Business Process Assessments are not an add-on — they are foundational to how we help organizations succeed. Lasting improvement starts deep below the surface:

- Understand how your work really gets done
- Identify room for growth
- Align solutions to real needs
- Help businesses move forward with clarity

Next, we aim to leave operations your stronger, clearer, and better positioned for what's next.

Start with Understanding

Whether you're exploring ERP, improving operations, or planning your next phase of growth, a Business Process Assessment provides the insight to move forward with clarity and purpose. Talk with an AttivoERP Consultant today!
